Greece, 1 March 2023

The day after the accident, in an address to the nation, Greek Prime Minister Kyriakos Mitsotakis said “tragic human error” appeared to be the cause of the crash, and called for an independent investigation. “Justice will do its job”, he said

Greece, 5 March 2023

On Facebook, Mitsotakis wrote “I owe everyone, and especially the victims’ relatives, a big apology, both personal and on behalf of all who governed the country for many years. In 2023, it is inconceivable that two trains move in different directions on the same track and no one notices. We cannot, we do not want, and we must not hide behind the human error.”

EU 2018/762 safety requirements: the focus on organisational aspects

- Top management shall demonstrate leadership and commitment to the (...) continual improvement of the safety management system
- The organisation shall demonstrate a systematic approach to integrating human and organisational factors within the safety management system
- The organisation shall provide a strategy to continually improve its safety culture

On 26 and 27 June, Infrabel hosted the Safety Leadership Trainers Summer School, during which 15 talented facilitators elaborated key elements for a follow-up #training, to be deployed in 2025.

Since 2019, 130 safety #leadership training sessions have been conducted by ERA, Eurostar, Iarnród Éireann Irish Rail, ERMEWA SA, Lokaltog and Infrabel, providing support to more than 1700 rail professionals across Europe!

The #summer school was the perfect opportunity to deliver certificates of qualification to the safety leadership trainers, as they successfully completed the ERA #qualification path. ...voir plus
